I will give instruction
by precept, by discourse, and in all other ways...

You can give instruction in the form of a student subscription to AFP. It helps future physicians gain understanding. They grow in awareness of the challenges and satisfactions of general practice.

Young people particularly appreciate AFP's brightness, its ease of reading. (Compare appearance and legibility, as well as content of this copy with any other medical publication.)

It costs five dollars to send the next 12 issues to student, intern or resident. Upon receipt of your instructions, a folder goes to each recipient telling him of your gift.

You needn't send any money now, the magazine will start immediately and you can be billed later.
